Francis Johnston, Reg. Gen. }

The petition of Thomas Stewardson on behalf of himself and the other trustees for the estate of Samuel Caldwell, surviving partner of James Meese, bearing date Philadelphia, 5th Month 17th 1799, stated as follows, viz. That a certain John Collins had in consequence of fraudulent deeds poll, obtained patents for two certain tracts of land, one situate in the county of Northumberland, surveyed to Samuel Caldwell in pursuance of a warrant dated in 1774; and the other situate now in Luzerne county, surveyed to said Caldwell by a warrant also dated in 1774—and requested that patents might be granted, for the said tracts, to William Crammond, Edward Tilghman, John Ashley, and Thomas Stewardson, trustees of the estate of Samuel Caldwell, surviving partner of James Meese, as the said two tracts were part of the estate of Meese and Caldwell.

Whereupon the Board having considered the same, ordered that at least sixty days notice be given in one of the Philadelphia newspapers, and in the Lancaster Journal to the said Collins or his assigns, to appear before the Board on the first Monday in October next, to shew cause if any he or they have, why patents should not issue for the said two tracts to the said trustees agreeably to the prayer of the said petition.

Blockley, Auguſt 23, 1799.

THE ſubſcribers, members of the Grand Inqueſt of the county of Cheſter, having attentively and deliberately conſidered the relative merits of the two perſons now in nomination for Governor, to ſucceed the preſent, do not heſitate in pledging themſelves to ſupport JAMES ROSS, of Pittſburgh, at the enſuing election for office, inaſmuch as he has always, with that conſiſtency which excluſively appertains to the friends of America, advocated her rights in ſpite of all the menaces and calumnies of foreign emiſſaries or domeſtic traitors; that his mind has been ſuperior to the popular clamours of the moment ſteadily purſuing the intereſts of the people without being of this party to-day, and the other to-morrow, as popular prejudice might ſeem to vibrate; and as there will be a vacancy in the Senate of Pennſylvania, at the enſuing election, for a Senator, from the diſtrict compoſed of the counties of Cheſter, Montgomery and Bucks, we do recommend, as our choice, and are determined to ſupport ZEBULON POTTS, Eſq. for ſaid office.

This meeting taking into conſideration the critical ſituation of our country, aſſailed with implacable animoſity by a vindictive and ſavage enemy, whom neither the laws of God nor the ordinances of man have been found to influence, and who has not only practiſed upon theſe United States every ſpecies of inſult, fraud and violence, but committed unexampled acts of cruelty and murder upon our inoffenſive and defenceleſs fellow citizens—

Reſolved, That in the opinion of this meeting the choice of a Chief Magiſtrate of this ſtate being intimately connected with the future happineſs of the nation, we are convinced that he ſhould be a man poſſeſſing a juſt regard for the honor, dignity and proſperity of his country, perfectly free from the influence of thoſe perfidious and ſacrilegious principles of Jacobiniſm which have already extinguiſhed every republic on earth but our own—a man totally exempt from foreign influence, intereſts or connections, to whoſe integrity and patriotiſm the Federal government can look with implicit confidence for ſupport in time of danger.

Foreign Intelligence.

London Gazette Extraordinary.

THURSDAY, JUNE 13.

Diſpatches of which the following are Copy and Extract, have be received from the Right Hon. Sir Morten Eden, R. B. and Lieut. Col. Robert Craufurd, by the Right Hon. Lord Grenville, His Majeſty's Principal Secretary of State for the Foreign Department.

Extract of a letter from Sir Morten Eden, K. B. dated Vienna, May 30.

I have the honour of tranſmitting to your Lordſhip an extraordinary gazette of the day, containing an account of the progreſs of the army under the command of the Archduke Charles in Switzerland, and of Gen. Bellegarde's determination, (the object of reſcuing the Griſons from the French being now attained) to proceed with the troops under his command to ſupport the operations of the Army of Italy, and a detailed relation of Lucien's Stein and the neighbouring poſts by Gen. Hotze.

Vienna May 24.

From two reports received from his Royal Highneſs the Archduke Charles, dated at Stockach the 20th inſt. and at Singen the 21ſt inſt. it appears, that Gen. Bay, whom Lieut. Hotze had detached to attack the enemy near Aſmos, had driven him from that poſt, carried a fleche, and one piece of cannon and a tumbril. Gen. Bay proceeded to ſtorm the enemy's entrenchments, and purſued them in his retreat to Werdenberg; in the courſe of which he took one more piece of cannon. Notwithſtanding a very obſtinate attempt of the enemy to make a ſtand at Werdenbergh, our brave troops ſucceeded in repulſing him upon this occaſion, and one of the enemy's companies was, with the exception of 30 men cut to pieces.

While Gen. Bay was executing the above operation, Col. Gaviſini, of the regiment of Kerpen, who was ordered by Lieut. Gen. Hotze to advance to Wallenſtadt, and if poſſible to gain poſſeſſion of the road which leads through the mountains from Werdenberg to Wallenſtadt, reached Wallenſtadt on the 19th and poſted his troops about half a league on this ſide the lake. He was ſoon after attacked by a very ſuperior number of the enemy, who continued ſending freſh troops through Flums againſt his flank, but could not gain a foot of ground. On the contrary, Col. Gavaſini, in the end ſucceeded in bringing a ſmall column to act upon the enemy's right flank, and in repulſing him towards ſun-ſet, with conſiderable ſlaughter, as far as Murk.

His Royal Highneſs here obſerves, that Col. Gavaſini upon this occaſion gave freſh proofs of his ſpirit and intelligence, having prevented the enemy, notwithſtanding his ſuperiority, from gaining the leaſt advantage. Our loſs was, however, not inconſiderable, as it amounted to 300 men killed and wounded, among whom were eight officers, three killed and five wounded.

A legion formed of Swiſs Emigrants, which was engaged for the firſt time, diſtinguiſhed itſelf very much, and the country people have every where riſen in maſs with enthuſiaſm.

The rapid progreſs of Lieut. Gen. Hotze obliged the enemy to abandon the neighbourhood of St. Gall, as well as the banks of the Rhine, near Conſtance and Schaffhauſen and to retreat beyond Winterthur.

Lieut. Gen. Nauendorff, who obſerved this, immediately croſſed the Rhine with a part of his advanced guard, and puſhed forward with the light cavalry to obſerve the enemy's further movements. He was informed that the enemy had abandoned the Thur and the Thor, and had fallen back towards Zurich. Lieut. Gen Nauendorff ſent patroles of light troops towards St. Gall, to eſtabliſh a communication with thoſe of the corps which was advancing from that quarter under Lieut. Gen. Hotze.

His Royal Highneſs on the 21ſt moved his camp from Stockach to Singen, at which latter place he alſo eſtabliſhed his headquarters on that day.

As ſoon as Lieut Col. Williams learnt that the enemy had evacuated Rheineck, he directed the cruiſe of the whole of his flotilla towards Arborn, with a view to impede their retreat. He further ſent to Roſchach Count Tuſconis, one of the officers acting under him, who ſeized there eight pieces of cannon of different calibers, three mortars, a quantity of ſhells, ſhips ſtores and ammunition, and ſix gun boats which were not quite built, all which were brought to Bregentz.

A further report from His Royal Highneſs, dated on the 22d at Singen, ſtates that Lieut. Col. Williams had reported from Koſchach, that he had advanced with a diviſion of the regiment of Waldeck dragoons which had reached that place under Lieut. Burſcheid, as far as St. Gall, from which town the enemy had retreated a ſhort time before. He occupied it and took three pieces of cannon and two tumbrils.

Lieut. Gen. Hotze alſo reported, that Capt. Count Leinigen of the regiment of Bender, had, with the aſſiſtance of ſome armed peaſants; taken in Alſtutten, two cannon, five tumbrils, and a conſiderable proportion of arms and ammunition; and that Gen. Bay had in the proſecution of his attack upon Werdenberg taken two more cannon and four hundred firelocks.

Lieut. Gen. Nauendorff already occupies Frauenfeld and Winterthur, and his patroles are in the direction of Zurich and Balach.

In Diſſenhofen, where he eſtabliſhed a bridge of pontoons, he found nine pieces of cannon, one hundred firelocks, and a ſupply of ammunition. Maj. Morbert, who belonged to his advance guard, fell in with a detachment of the enemy at Munſterlingen on the borders of the Lake of Conſtance, which being attacked at the ſame time by the crew of one of the veſſels forming part of the flotilla who had landed, was diſperſed, and the greater part taken. This detachment formed the eſcort of a traſport of artillery which fell into our hands, and which conſiſted of four cannon, one howitzer and one tumbril.

Lieutent-General Koſpoth reported to his Royal Highneſs, that Capt. Luck of the 13th regiment of Dragoons, had, at the deſire of Col. Frenelle, fallen upon and ſurprized the 3d regiment of French Huſſars, which was encamped near Leimen not far from Heidelbergh, had cut to pieces about 100 men, and diſperſed the remainder, taking ſeveral priſoners and 60 horſes. On his ſide, one Officer and two men only ſlightly wounded. His Royal Highneſs ſpeaks in the ſtrongeſt terms of the meritorious conduct upon ſeveral occaſions of the above named two Officers.

Gen. Melas reports that Lieut-Gen. Ott had ordered the light battalion of Mibonovich to attack the enemy in Pontremoli, from which he was diſlodged. Maj. Mihanovich particularly diſtinguiſhed himſelf upon the occaſion; having beſides driven the enemy, who occupied ſo advantageous a poſt with no leſs force than 300 men, taken two canno, 17 mules laden with ammunition, and 30 priſoners, and having purſued the remainder of the enemy into the mountains.

With a view to give effectual ſupport to the operations of Col. Strauch and Prince Victor of Rohan, after the enemy had aſſembled near Bellinzone a conſiderable number of troops, Gen. Count Hohenzollern was ſent with five battalions againſt Chiavenna, and directed alſo to take the command of the whole corps there, while Gen. Letterman carries on the blockade of the citadel of Milan with the troop that remained there.

Gen. Vuckaſſovich reports that at Coſignano in Piedmont, the armed peaſants had riſen upon and diſarmed 100 French ſoldiers; that they had done the ſame in Carmagnola, and had wounded two French Generals, one of whom had died of his wounds.

Lieut. Gen. Bellegarde reports, that, in order to ſupport moſt effectually the operations Lieut. Gen. Hotze in the Griſons, he had marched his corps forward in four columns: that the firſt, under Gen. Count Nobili, advanced from Sus over Mount Flora againſt Davos; the ſecond, under Lieut. Gen. Daddick, from Pont acroſs the Albula, the third, under Col La Marſeille, over Mount Julies into the uppor Stein valley, while he himſelf with the remainder of the troops, moved upon Lenz.

The enemy did not any where make much oppoſition, and the column of Count Nobili alone was obliged to force an abittis near Dorfli, after which, however, the enemy retreated with the utmoſt expedition, but not without the loſs of one Capt. two Lieuts, and 150 men who were taken priſoners.

Lieut Gen. Bellegrade adds, that ſince the object in view, namely, the conqueſt of the Griſons, is now accompliſhed, he would without delay, proceed to co-operate with the Army of Italy; leaving, however, Col. Count St. Julien with his brigade to cover the Engadin, to keep up the communication of Lieut. Gen. Hotze, and if neceſſary to co operate further with him.

May 31.

Gen. Count Hohenzollern, who was entruſted with the ſiege of the Citadel of Miſan, has ſent Capt. Ottol of the Engineers, with a report, that, in conſequence of the orders he had received on the night of the 14th to blockade the city of Milan, and to ſupport Col. Prince Rohan, againſt whom the enemy was advancing with very ſuperior numbers, he, on the 15th left Gen. Latterman at Milan, with five battallions and one ſquadron, and haſtened with the remaining five battallions to join the Prince, whoſe advanced poſts were oppoſite to thoſe of the enemy at Pointe Ceres in Anio.

Notwithſtanding the great diſtance, Gen. Count Aohenzollern on the 17th had advanced beyond Ponte Ceresa, and formed a junction with the Prince.

The enemy's poſition was immediately reconnoitred, and the attack to be made upon them in three columns near Caverno, was fixed for the 18th. It was accordingly made, and with ſuch vivacity, that the enemy was driven back for the ſpace of five leagues, and forced over the rivulet.

From the extent of the poſition to be occupied by Col. Prince Rohan, Count Hohenzollern reinforced him with one battalion and left his corps poſted near Luciona, Ponte Ceresa, and Logano, with his advanced poſts in Caverna. His march back to Milan with the remaining four battalions was ſo expeditious that he reached it early on the morning of the 20th.

In the night between the 20th and 21ſt the trenches were opened before the citadel of Milan. On the 23d notwithſtanding the very heavy fire from the beſieged, the batteries were in a ſufficient ſtate of forwardneſs to begin playing upon the works. Upon a ſecond ſummons being ſent the enemy agreed to capitulate; and the garriſon, conſiſting in the whole of 2200 men, of which 9 are Chiefs of battallions, and 158 Officers, are not to ſerve againſt their Imperial Majeſties for the ſpace of one twelvemonth. One hundred and ten pieces of cannon, and a quantity of ammunition and military ſtores of every deſcription were found in the Citadel.

Gen. Melas, in a report of the 19th from Cuſa Fiſma, ſtates, that the enemy had abandoned the poſition near Valenza, which the Auſtro-Ruſſian troops had occupied. Gen. Vuckaſſovich reported on the 17th that the movements he had made had obliged the enemy to abandon Cuzale and its citadel. His corps marched out of the Camp at Toſe di Gurafolo, and early on the 19th encamped behind the rivulet of Copa, whence he will proceed to Mortanu.

In the night between the 8th and 9th, two Deputies arrived in the camp from Montoni, with an account that the armed peasants, to the number of 10,000, had, after a blockade of nine days, taken the Piedmontese fortress of Ceva, the French garrison of which, of 325 men, they have made prisoners of war, and conveyed to Mondovi to be there confined in the citadel.

At the request of these deputies an adequate detachment was immediately marched to occupy the above important fortress. One of the deputies proceeded with it as a guide, while the other offered to remain as a hostage with our troops. Indeed the inhabitants of every District in Italy have given proofs of the most favorable disposition towards the great cause in which we are engaged.

Gen. Kray, In a report of the 22d states, that Gen. Count Klenau had taken Farrara by capitulation, and was proceeding to attack its citadel. Particulars of the capitulation will appear shortly.

Head Quarters, near Winterthur,
31st May, 1799.

My Lord,

I have the honour to inform your Lordship, that on the 25st instant, the advanced guard of the Archduke's Army (commanded by Gen. Nauendorff) passed the Rhine without opposition, between Diessenhofen and Schaffhausen, and moved forward to Andelsingen on the Thur. The army passed on the following day, and encamped near Paradies.

On the 22d the main body of Gen. Hotze's corps also crossed the Rhine at different points between Balzers and the Lake of Constance and on the 23d the Gen. took his head-quarters at St. Gallen. Lieut. Gen. Petrarsch, who during the operations against the Grison Country had been posted with the right wing of Gen. Hotze's corps for the defence of the Rhine from Feldkirch to the Lake, marched in the night from the 24th to the 25th with six battallions of infantry and the regiment of Kinsky Chevaux Levers, from St. Gallen towards Frauenfeld, in order to form a junction with the Archduke's army, the advanced posts of which were already pushed forward to Nesselbach.

The rest of Lieut. Gen. Hotze's corps marched in the forenoon of the 25th to Schwartzenbach, where it encamped behind the Thur, and its advanced guard took post two leagues in front of that river on the road towards Elgg.

In the course of this day (25th) the enemy attacked all the corps that had passed the Thur. He drove back Lieut. Gen. Nauendorff's advanced posts from Hesselbach, and obliged them to repass the river at Audelsingen.

Lieut. Gen. Petrarsch's corps was attacked just as it arrived of the heights behind Frauenfeld and Wyll. During this affair the enemy had pushed forward a column to the Bridge of Pfin, with a view of covering the left flank of the corps that was engaged with Gen. Petrarsch. The advanced guard of Gen. Hotze's left was also attacked, but it repulsed the enemy and drove him as far as the Elgg; in consequence however of the retreat of Gen. Petrarsch's corps it was also ordered to fall back.

Early in the morning of the 26th, a column of the Archduke's army under Lieut. Gen. Price Reuss, arrived at Pfin and in the course of the day encamped near Frauenfeld, where it was joined in the evening by Lieut. Gen. Petrarsch's corps. In the night from the 26th to the 27th, Gen. Hotze's and Prince Reuss's columns advanced in connection with each other, to attack the enemy's position near Winterthur. The manœuvre was executed with great precision, and the attack was soon made after day-light of the 17th with much regularity and in a very military manner. The enemy was driven from his position, but the ground being extremely favourable and much interfected with wood, he effected his retreat in tolerable order, and took post behind the Tress, where he remained until the evening; the bridge over the Thur at Andelsingen had been destroyed on the 25th, and an unfortunate delay in the construction of the Pontoon bridges in the night from the 26th to the 27th prevented the Archduke's right wing (under Lieut. Gen. Nauendorf) arriving in time to take part in the affair of this day, which otherwise might have been more decisive.

The banks of the Tress are so steep that it affords an excellent position; but Massena did not think proper to make any further attempt to defend it. He therefore retreated, and took post behind the Glat, to which he was induced not only by the affair of Winterthur, but perhaps also by the march of Nauendorff's column towards his left flank. The advanced posts of the two armies are now seperated by the Glat, and the enemy has an entrenched camp, said to be advantageous, about a league on this side of Zurich: but I have no doubt of his soon being obliged to abandon it. He has retired from Rapersweil and destroyed the bridge.

Col. Rovorea, with the Swiss corps, is at Notre Dame d'Einsidlen in the Canton of Schweitz; he has been joined by some of the Inhabitants, and is supported by an Austrian corps under Col. Cavasini.

Official accounts have been this day recived of part of Gen. Bellegarde's corps having passed the St. Gothard.

I have the honour to be, &c.
ROBERT CRAUFURD.

CONSTANTINOPLE, JUNE 3.

Four tartars have arrived here from Asia. Two of them announce, that the Pacha of Damascus has totally defeated the Arabs allied with Buonaparte, who wished to plunder Damascus. The other two, left Jean d'Acre May 10th, and confirm the defeat of the French;—and that the cannon taken from them have been brought into that fortress, and Gheza Pacha had advanced thirteen leagues from Acae.

PETERSBURG, (RUSSIA) JUNE 11.

The Court Gazette contains a report from Gheza Pacha, to the Porte, dated April 12, —In which he says—"On the 7th March Buonaparte advanced, with a numerous army before the city of Acre, surrounded his camp with intrenchments and began to attack the city, on the 8th, with cannon and mortars. We made, successfully, six different sorties, at which the enemy left their entrenchments, fought desperately, and lost a great number of men. Notwithstandiig all this, they attempted twice to take the city by storm, but they were each time repulied with great loss. Hitherto, 6,000 of the enemy have been killed, and I sincerely hope, with the assistance of the Omnpotant, to be able to announce to you, soon, the total defeat of the infidels."

This report was perfectly confirmed by that of Commodore Sir Sydney Smith.

ARMIES IN SWITZERLAND.

At the date of June 10th, Massena, and the French army in Switzerland, had "advanced backwards" as far as the canton of Berne, at one point, and to that of Underwald, at another. The Archduke on one side, and Gen. Bellegarde, on the other, have trodden closely on their heels; and though Moreau has disputed every foot of ground, his assailants have become the "occupants of the soil"—and at the last accounts both armies were in such close neighbourhood as promised events of decisive magnitude. The success of the Austrians in Switzerland, &c. has hindered the reinforcement of Moreau's army.

ARMIES IN ITALY.

At the last dates from the hostile armies in Italy, (about June 12th) Suwarrow's head quarters were at Asti, with the line of his army extending from thence to Toriona, Piasance, and Parma; while Gen. Moreau's quarters were said to be at or near Genoa, and Macdonald's at Bologna. On both sides strong indications of active business were exhibited.

It should appear, that the Neapolitan army, under Cardinal Ruefo, consisting of 30,000 men, was in pursuit of Gen. Macdonald's retreating army, when the last accounts left the Cardinabat Captia.

PHILADELPHIA,

THURSDAY EVENING, AUGUST 29.

☞ THOSE Citizens who have removed with their families from the city, and those who are about removing, are earnestly requested to adopt immediate measures to have their Fire-Buckets deposited either at the City Hall, the old Court House corner of Market and Second streets, or in the new building at the South end of Second street market adjoining South street; and in case of fire, a person will be employed to collect and return them to the above places. It certainly is unnecessary to state the extreme danger the city will be exposed to, should a fire take place when, the inhabitants are chiefly fled and their Buckets not to be obtained. Particular attention should be likewise paid that no domestic animals or putrifying substances of any kind be locked up in the houses or yards of those who have removed or are about to remove.

ROBERT WARTON, Mayor.

The printers will oblige the public by inserting the above recommendation in their papers or few times.

To Thomas M'Kean, Chief Justice of the State of Pennsylvania, ci-devant Colonel and would-be Governor, &c. &c. &c.

May it please your honor,

Your honor has modestly published to the world, (unless Mrs. M'Kean conducts your private correspondence, and has divulged the contents) a letter alledged to have been written to you by the late Lord Mansfield, in reply "to your most obliging and elegant letter" accompanied by Dallas' Reports.

Supposing this letter for one moment to be genuine, by your honor's permission, I'll say a word or two about the conduct which gave it birth. Dallas' reports contained cases decided generally by your honor, being intended by the reporter, as he himself sets forth in his very delicate dedication to yourself, merely "as your own portrait."—Where your honor's modesty (an amiable failing in your general character) could have been when you sent a book composed principally of your own decisions, made A. M. and P. M. before and after dinner; and with such a dedication too, to a Lord Mansfield, Heaven knows!! But certain it is that, by your honor's management, his Lordship could not do less than be even with the dedication. Your honor's letter too, "obliging and elegant," must have been a powerful stimulant to his lordship's civility, for he never would be outdone in civility by any man—Hence says he "laus laudari a te"—this was going pretty far too.

But your honor will excuse me, if I express some doubts as to the genuineness of this said letter, because 1st, on the 14th day of February, 1791, Lord Mansfield could read and write: and 2dly, because his Lordship was not on the 14th day of February 1791, (as I can prove) at Kenwood.

Your honor however will observe, with great attention, that I would not for the world, insinuate that Dr. Leib manufactured this letter for electioneering purposes (his character is too well certificated to admit a suspicion of the kind:) nor that Tenny Coxe penned it; his pure honesty is verified by the record in the case of the U. S. v. Worral: nor that Dallas wrote it, and much less that your honor dictated it, altho' your honor has certainly published it. No, no, I hope the world will not be so ill natured, because, I think, your honor may be helped out another way. Lord Mansfield, as other great men, was often teazed by the attentions and correspondence of characters, who were desirous of raising their little tenements upon his foundation, and his lordship, not willing to consume his precious time by attending to these gentry, had a secretary, whose duty it was, when civil letters were received, to write as civil answers, and in fact to act "the master of the ceremonies." 'Twas this secretary who received your honor's letter, and knowing nothing of you himself, he daubed a copy of "your portrait" by citizen Dallas, and sent it on to your honor, and surely he was as civil as could be expected.

I shall take another opportunity of defending your honor from scandalous insinuations that have been made as to this letter, and of supporting the history I have given of it, and am in the mean while,

Your honor's obliged and admiring servant,
B.

Philadelphia, August 24, 1799.

[It is remarkable that Archer in forging a letter to puff off his work, dates it at a place not in existence. Lord Mansfield would never have dated his letter from Kenwood— His country seat was Caenwood.]

The difficulties of re instating the ancient order of things in France, it is to be feared will prove insurmountable. To such a conjecture, a genius sublime as that of Henry IV or of Wm. Pitt, could alone prove adequate. To concatenate once more the shattered fragments of the Empire; with a judicious and discriminatiog hand, to rescue, and avail the country of the aid of its little remaining wisdom and virtue; to pursue with extirpating perseverance the heresies and the heretics of the revolution, undeterred by the calculations of Philosophers and Philanthropists; all require an union of talents and qualities of mind, rarely to be met with in combination.

To preserve the French Empire independent, and to re-establish its ancient Monarchy, is however, an experiment worth attempting, and as there appears no evidence of a contrary intention on the part of the Allies, it will no doubt be attempted, as soon as the Directorial rabble are driven off. The capacities of all the present Royal family, appear to be extremely limited; but as, under an equally feeble Prince of the same family, a minister at the age of eighty (Cardinal Fleury) rescuscitated the perishing vitals of his country, from the state into which the glory of Lewis Quatorze had brought them, so now, much may be done by a judicious choice of Prime Minister. The aged Mawry, if he be alive, would here meet a task worthy all the energies of his great mind, and would find an all sufficient incitement in the reflection that success would ensure to him the immortal gratitude and reverence of the distressed Peasant, and the afflicted Gentleman, of the wretched relics of ancient Nobility, of the Royal family, and of mankind at large. In France, all would concur in assigning to administration, the glory of realizing the fabled "AUREA ŒTAS."

The Old Tory furnishes a daily column of "the Traitor's morning Repast," headed "British influence." How great an ass must he be, who cannot keep his own counsel!

It is a curious fact, that those wretches who preach up the doctrine of popular sovereignty, continually fill the air with out cries against government for raising armies.

If there be one situation in which men are more completely sovereign than another, it is surely in an army, where they are exempt from civil controul, where they have leisure to form plans and means to execute them. Yet strange to tell, men under such circumstances are the most rarely found to aspire after the attainment of this panagathon, this pretended summit of philosophical happiness. If, then, where men possess the most means of being sovereign, they shew the least disposition to become so, it would seem not be so inherent a propensity in nature, and not so obvious a dictate of reason, as is pretended.

That scoundrel patriot, Grattan, (in one of his addresses to the mob, exciting them to insurrection and revolution,) has the following effort of sublime and poetic genius: "Reform is a principle of attraction about which the king and people would SPIN on quietly and insensibly in regular movements, and in a system common to them both." How happily are the ideas of the spindle, the distaff, and the school boy's top, here blended with that of the revolution of the planets round the sun, from the principle of attraction?

What would Lord Mansfield have thought of our "liberal" Doctor of Laws, had he heard him give an attorney the LIE, swelling with the indignation of a rattle-snake, because he happened to differ from him in opinion? Or of his wisdom and dignity, who could descend to reprove the gentlemen of the bar because they appeared in "his presence" with Gingham coats?

Old Malfaisant procured an order to be sent to London, for a wig, with three bobtails to it, to be made (by his express direction) after that worn by Lord Mansfield. The wig arrived and was sent home in a box, along with a bill, amounting only to the moderate sum of eight dollars. Malfaisant wore it at a public dinner,—but his cara sposa, not thinking the old blade so amiable in it, as in his old scalp, ordered him to return it, which he did, to the importer, who immediately commenced an action against him for the fraud. The wig was produced in court, before the face of Malfaisant, and after being dandled about from one lawyer's fist to another, till it went round the whole bar, finally passed to the constables, who, when their curiosity had been fully satisfied, flung it under one of the benches, whence some negro, or democratic citizen, conveyed it away to his own use and behoof. On the trial it was maintained that the wig was a good wig and a proper, and such as judges used to wear—but some quip or quiddit stripped the claimant of his lawful demand he wig meanwhile had been conveyed away,; and thus Malfaisant succeeded in cheating him out of eight dollars.!

VICE PERSONIFIED,

Is an ancient debauchee, with malicious grin, bushy eyebrows, and wig of formal cut—he is a drunkard, hen peck'd, tho' a tyrant, tho' a coward, cruel. To rescue villany from its fate he would do much, to join that villany in issue with his cause, he would do more. A moon-calf Caliban, hateful and hated in his person, hell lives in his mind. His Cub he employs in violating sanctuaries, sacred to Christians, and his minions in extending the Empire of the Devil.

NEW YORK, August 28.

Postscript.

About sunset, last evening, we went out to Potter's Field, with a view to ascertain the true state of the rumours as to the great number of Burials there. We obtained a view of the Keeper's Book, and found, that from the begining of the present month, 72 interments had taken place, of which only 26 where cases of fever, and a considerable proportion of the remainder children. It is of importance to remark here, that no persons dead of Fever, are admitted into any other Cemetry, which was not the case heretofore.

We are happy to inform our fellow citizens, that late last evening, but ONE new case, and NO deaths, for the last 24 hours, had been reported at the health office. We hope that the present cool weather will restore to our City, in a short time its wonted health.

TERMS
Of Richard Folwell, in Philadelphia,
FOR SUBSCRIBING TO THE JOURNALS OF CONGRESS,
FROM THE COMMENCEMENT
Of the American War, in 1774, to the preſent time,
INCLUDING
The Reports of Heads of Departments, of Committees, and other Official and Private Papers of that Body, now firſt permitted to be made public.

TERMS.

THE work will be printed on a fine paper, and a new neat tipe, in large octavo.

Each volume will contain above 500 pages, neatly bound and lettered.

Uniformity in ſize, paper, and binding, will be obſerved throughout the work; ſo that, while the ſubſcribers become poſſeſſed of a valuable record, an ornament may be added to their libraries.

The price to ſubſcribers will be 2 dolls. 75 cts. per volume, in boards, and 3 dolls. whole bound, but, as the publiſher does not intend to print manmore than the number ſubſcribed for, a conſiderable riſe on the price may be expected to non-ſubſcribers.

Each volume will contain about one third leſs of letter-preſs than the original edition; but, as the publiſher is not yet enabled to determine the extent of the Private Journals, which he may be allowed to make public, he cannot aſcertain the number of volumes which will compriſe the work.

☞ Payments to be made on delivery of each volume.

Subſcribers will have it at their option, either to ſubſcribe for the whole of the Journals, up to the preſent time, or to thoſe only of the Old Congreſs prior to the organization of the Federal Government.

IN all countries, the proceedings in the commencement of their governments, are loſt in darkneſs and obſcurity, owing to a careleſsneſs, in the ſucceeding generation, to preſerve the public records, and the attention of the nation, in thoſe rude ages, being called off from their domeſtic concerns, to engage in wars and conqueſt. Of what infinite value would the laws of Alfred be, had they been tranſmitted to our days? Time, that deſtroys every thing, enhances the value of well authenticated public records, and renders them almoſt inеſtimable. It is hoped, that Americans will, therefore, chearfully contribute their aſſiſtance in tranſmitting to poſterity the labours of their anceſtors—founders of the Columbian nation.

 The work will certainly be advanced with expedition and promptitude. The following will ſhow the ſupport it has already acquired:

We, therefore, reſpectfully ſolicit, as the publication is neceſſary to be diſſeminated among public bodies, that Congreſs will, in their wiſdom, render him ſuch additional encouragement, to that which he has obtained from private individuals, as to enable him to proceed with the work, ſo that your Memorialiſts may be enabled to purchaſe copies of that record for themſelves.

The Swift-Sure,

A NEW LINE OF STAGES,

NOW RUNNING BETWEEN

PHILADELPHIA & NEW-YORK,

By the ſhort and pleaſant road of Buſtleton, Newtown, Scotch-Plains, Springfield and Newark.

THE excellence of this road, the populouſneſs of the country through which it paſſes, with ſundry other advantages, which render it ſo far preferable to the Old Road through Briſtol, Brunſwick, &c. long ago ſuggeſted the propriety of its becoming the Grand Thorough-Fare from Philadelphia to New York. During the preſent year, a minute ſurvey of it has been taken, and its ſuperiority over the Old Road, both in winter and ſummer, has been clearly aſcertained.—There are good bridges over all the other waters but the Delaware, and here the croſſing is performed with great ſafety and in leſs than half the time required at the Trenton Ferry. The road is ſeveral miles ſhorter than the old road, but this is amongſt the leaſt of its advantages, becauſe daily experience proves to us, that diſpatch as well as comfort in travelling principally depend on the goodneſs of the road and the levelneſs of the country, and, in theſe reſpects, the New Road is, beyond all compariſon, the beſt. It preſents none of thoſe rocky hills, which render the Old Road ſo fatiguing between the Delaware and Newark. The ſoil, too, for the greater part, is ſuch as to produce but little mud in winter, and very little duſt in ſummer, which circumſtance, added to the beauty of the country, and a conſiderable proportion of ſhade, muſt always render travelling in the latter ſeaſon peculiarly agreeable.

The Swift Sure ſtarts from PHILADELPHIA, at 6 o'clock every morning (Sundays excepted) from the GREEN TREE, oppoſite the Lutheran Church, North Fourth ſtreet It goes through Frankford to Buſtleton, where it ſtops to Breakfaſt; from Buſtletown it goes through Newtown to Penny-town to dinner; from Penny town through Hopewell, Millſtone, Bound-brook, Quibbletown and Plainfield to Scotch Plains to lodge. The next morning it ſtops at Springfield to breakfaſt, from whence it goes through Newark and arrives at New-York at noon.

From NEW-YORK it ſtarts at 3 o'clock in the afternoon (from Paulus Hook) and arrives at Philadelphia the next evening. For ſeats at New-York, application may be made to Edward Bardin, Old Coffee houſe, to A. Mathieu, corner of Naſſau and John ſtreets, to B. Many, no. 48, Courtlandt, corner of Greenwich ſtreet, and to Michael Little, at his hotel, no. 42, Broad ſtreet.

Fare for paſſengers, Five Dollars.
Way paſſengers 6 Cents per Mile.

Each paſſenger is allowed to take on 14lbs. of baggage carriage free; but all other baggage, taken on by a paſſenger, will be charged at 4 cents per pound weight.

With reſpect to packages ſent on without paſſengers, the proprietors preſume they have adopted a regulation, which, though unknown to other lines of ſtages, they think muſt meet with general approbation, They pledge themſelves to make good every package on the following conditions. The perſon who delivers the package at the office ſhall ſee it entered in the ſtage-book, for which entry he ſhall pay 6 cents; he will then ſtate the value of the package, and pay (excluſive of the carriage) one per cent. on the value, as inſurance, and for which he will receive a receipt. Thus, for inſtance, if he eſtimates his package at one dollar, he will pay one cent. and if at one hundred dollars, he will pay one dollar inſurance, and in like proportion for packages of any other value.

Very few perſons it is preſumed, will diſlike this regulation; it will however, be optionable with every one to avail himſelf of this ſecurity or not. But the proprietors think it right to ſtate very expliciſly, that they will be reſponſible for the ſafe delivery of no package, which is not regularly entered, and for which an inſurance receipt cannot be produced.

In the diſtribution of the route, the greateſt care has been taken to fix on ſuch places and taverns as always afford a good accommodation and entertainment for the paſſengers at the moſt reaſonable rates The ſtages are well equipped furniſhed with fleet and ſteady horſes, and committed to the care of intelligent ſober and obliging drivers. The proprietors themſelves live at the different towns and villages where the ſtages will ſtop, ſo that the conduct of the perſons they employ is continually an object of their attention.—They take care alſo to ſee that the paſſengers are well provided for and politely treated at the taverns, and that no ſort of chicanery or inſolence is practiſed upon them; in ſhort, they have ſpared neither pains nor expence to render the SWIFT-SURE the very beſt line of ſtages in America.

The line has now run nearly a month, during which time a great number of gentlemen have gone through, both from Philadelphia and New-York. Every paſſenger has found the road to ſurpaſs very far all that has been ſaid of its excellence; and the Proprietors of the Swift Sure are extremely happy to hear the behaviou, of their drivers, and the treatment at Taverns ſpoken of with the higheſt ſatisfaction.

Reſolved, That on the firſt day of October next, this board will proceed to elect a Profeſſor of Engliſh and Grammar, who ſhall receive, for his ſervices, at the rate of £200 per annum, to be paid quarterly; and that public notice thereof be given, &c. &c, Teſt, A. C. HANSON.

N. B. The office aforeſaid hath juſt become vacant, by the reſignation of a gentleman, whoſe affairs requirs, the immediate undertaking of a voyage by ſea.

It is the duty of the ſaid Profeſſor (to whom is allowed an aſſiſtant) to teach the Engliſh language grammatically, and to prepare ſtudents for a ſuperior ſchool, by teaching them the Latin grammar, the Vocabulary, and Cordery. Writing is to be taught to all his ſcholars at ſtated hours; and to thoſe ſtudents who are not deſtined for the ſuperior ſchool, are to be taught, at the diſcretion of their parents, or guardians, Arithmetic, and other branches of ſcience uſually taught in Engliſh ſchools—A complete knowledge then of Latin, Arithmetic, &c. is conſidered indiſpenſible in the profeſſor; and it is expected, that candidates who are not known to the Board, will ſubmit to an examination, as well as produce ſatisfactory teſtimonials of their good morals, and fair characters.

The Printers within the United States are requeſted to inſert in their papers the foregoing reſolution and remarks, and to repeat the publication, as often as convenience will admit, until the 20th day of September next.
